PREFACE.

As there are many points of comparison amongst Assurance Companies that are omitted in most Tables put forth for the purpose, I have thought it desirable to supply that omission by putting together some of the most important.

In doing so I have made use of the Government Blue Books, the Insurance Press, and the Publications issued by the Companies.

The materials at hand are occasionally somewhat defective, and it is possible that some error may have crept into the text; should any such be discovered, I should be glad to be favoured with a correction, so as to make it available in any future issue.
